Deputy Secretary to Government.

No. 122.—The following resolution of the Government of India is published:—

FINANCE DEPARTMENT.

Sole, the 12th October 1925.

No. F.20 X.I.F.—It is proposed to make the following amendments in the Currency Notes (Refund) Rules, 1922, in pursuance of the powers conferred by section 29 of the Indian Paper Currency Act 1925 (X of 1925). The amendments will not come into force before the 1st April 1927, and any objections made before the 31st March 1926, will be taken into consideration.

2. The object of the proposed amendments is to discourage the melting of notes. This practice has been proved by the repeated experience of the Currency Department to be a serious menace to the circulation of funds. The circulation of divided notes also causes the expense of much time and care in the office of the department and consequent delay in encashment, and inconvenience to the public. Such delay can, of course, be diminished by the appointment of larger establishments than would otherwise be necessary, but the additional cost in the case of such establishments is heavy and the difficulties of dealing with divided notes has increased considerably with the expansion of the note circulation and is now a distinct impediment to the smooth administration of the currency note system. It seems desirable, therefore, to take steps to discourage the practice which is so seriously prejudicial in other countries, is only imagined locally, because it has not reached elsewhere the dimensions prevailing in India; and, though there are objections of a temporary nature as to a change of system in the present, it is thought that the time has come when these temporary difficulties should be "faced." It is recognized, however, that any procedure to be adopted with this end in view must be moderate and gradual and the amendments proposed are framed on conservative lines. The only two changes of importance in the Refund Rules are the following:—

(a) No claims on half or mutilated notes of the denominations of Rs. 5 and Rs. 10 will be admitted, i.e., the possessor of a half note of one of these denominations will no longer accumulate a claim to payment of the full value of the note, although his note properly joined together will be paid as whole, and claims on mutilated notes will be admitted if the portion presented is clearly more than half the note and the note can be identified by the requiring officer as genuine.

(b) The full value of the denominations of Rs. 50 and upwards half the value of the note will be paid at a Currency Office (or other working depots after the presentation, provided that in the meantime the counterfoil has not been presented with a claim to the full value of the note. On the other hand, claims to full value as a note of which only a half remains at least or which is damaged, worn, and otherwise will not obtain payment till after the lapse of 2 or 3 years instead of obtaining payment after the lapse of a period varying from six months to a year. In short, the effect of these changes is to make it easier for the public to obtain half value at a half rate, but to make it more difficult for them to obtain full value on a half note. It will, therefore, increase the risk of melting notes.

3. The main objection which may be urged against the proposed amendments is that they would increase the risk of fraudulence of notes by post. In view of the facilities for cheap remittance which are now given by Government and the Imperial Bank, by means of bank transfers, currency drafts, money orders and postal remittance of notes up to the value of Rs. 2,000, it does not appear that the public would be seriously inconvenienced if notes were never sent for encashment by post. But the amendments proposed in the rules will not absolutely prevent the sending of notes for encashment by post; they will merely increase the risk of doing so, and it will be open to the public to take this risk if they wish to do so, or to encash again in person.

DEPT. SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT (REVENUE)
Sole.

Rule 2.—Substitute the following for rule 2 (3):—

"A mutilated note means a note of which a portion is missing, provided that the portion presented is clearly more than half of the note, and that if the portion presented has been joined, each part of such portion is identifiable as part of the same note."

Rule 3.—For rule 3 (2) as substituted by the G.O. No. 228-F, dated the 7th November 1912, substitute the following:—

"Claims in respect of notes of which the denominations do not exceed ten rupees may be presented at any office of issue and shall be dealt with at the office of issue at which they are presented."

Delete rule 3 (2) as amended by the above amendments and so amend the present rules 2 (3) and 3 (4) as rules 2 (3) and 3 (3).

Rule 3.—Substitute "ten rupees" for "two and a half rupees" at the end of sub-rule (2).

Insert the following as rule 3 A:—

"3 A. Claims to the value of a half note shall be accepted when the number of the note is identified by the requiring officer on the half note and the half note is returned, has not been divided and joined together."

In rule 2 delete from the words "where the portion presented" to the end and substitute "where in the opinion of the requiring officer the portion presented clearly forms part of a genuine note and the missing portion is too small to be used in support of any other claim under the rules."

In rule 3 insert the words "of a half note" after "ten rupees" after "a note."

Rule 12.—Substitute the following for rule 12:—

"(1) Claims for half value of a half note only is presented by the owner with no follow-up."

(2) If a mutilated note has not been joined or the claim is made when half the value of the claim is not shown, the owner must show the original note and the counterfoil.

(D) If full value of the claim has already been paid as a claim under rule 14, the claim shall be rejected.

(4) If a second claim to the full value of the note has been received before the presentation of the claim on the covered before payment of half the value of the note in accordance with clause (3), the issuing officer shall consider both claims together and may order that one claimant be paid first with the full value of the note, or that both claimants be paid first with half the value of the note or may accept both claims."

(2) Claims in respect of a misstated note shall be deemed to be separate claims in respect of each half thereof, and shall be dealt with as provided in sub-rule (1).

Rule 13.—Insert the words 'or of which the portion presented is neither a half note nor a min-[ist] note' after the words 'usually destroyed' in Rule 12 (3) (F).

Sub 14.—Substitute the following for rule 14:—

24. If the enquiry has been made in respect of a claim under rule 19 (1) (a), the Deputy Controller on receipt of the result from the enquiring officer, or the enquiring officer, if empowered under the provision, rule 19 (1), may make order as follows:-

(3) If the counterpart has been presented and half the value of the note has been paid under rule 15, he may order half the value of the note to be paid forthwith.

(3) If the second party has been procured with a claim to half the value or the full value of the note and that claim is pending, he shall consider the two claims together and may order that one claimant be paid forthwith the full value of the note, or that both claimants be paid forthwith half the value of the note, or may reject both claims.

(c) if he is not excluded that the counterpart has been lost or destroyed in such circumstances that there is an probability of its being presented at some future date, he may order payment of half the value of the note forthwith;

(4) If, after considering the record of the enquiry under sub-rule (2) of rule 13 he is so satisfied, and is satisfied that the document was the last lawful holder of the whole estate, he shall cause to be published in the Gazette of India and in three newspapers issued at the local official printing, a notification stating the particulars of the sale of which one half is alleged to have been lost or destroyed, and the cause of the document, and calling upon any person having a claim in respect of such sale to produce the same forthwith:-

(c) if, on the expiration of two years from the date of the first publication under the subclause (K), the counterpart of the half note has not been provided, the Deputy Controller may order an amount equivalent to the full value of the note to be debited in Government securities, or to be deposited in the Post Office Savings Bank;

(4) if, on the expiration of a period which shall be determined by the Deputy Comptroller, but which, unless the Governor-General in Council otherwise directs, shall not be less than five years after each publication, the counterpart of the certificate has not been presented, the Deputy Comptroller shall order the securities referred to in the certificate to be deposited in the Public Office, as the case may be, with the interest on the securities accumulated thereon, in the character, as if the amount in the certificate, whether as a bond, with or without interest, or as a term not fully paid,

(d) - which, at each point,
has a value in the field of real numbers.

under-achievement (3) to (4) will be controlled and the two sides shall be dealt with under clause (1)." ibid.

SUPPLEMENT TO PART I-A

THE FORT ST. GEORGE GAZETTE

No. 44.] MADRAS, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 3, 1925. [Price, 4 pice.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Fort St. George, November 3, 1925.

No. 1901.—The following Government Order is published:—

G.O. No. 1885-P.H., Dated 11th September 1925.

Read—the following paper:—

Letter from Major A. J. H. Hennessey, M.B., M.C., M.S., Director of Public Health, Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Local Self-Government (Public Health) Department, dated Coimbatore, the 27th May 1925, No. D. 15/Prog.

I have the honour to submit my report of the National Health and Baby Week celebrations held during the month of January 1925.

2. In reviewing the activities of the first National Health and Baby Week held last year, the Government approved of the suggestion that the Health Week should be an annual function in view of the success it had achieved in focussing and attracting public attention and interest on matters of public health. Dr. Matthew early in August 1924 circularised all District and Municipal Health Officers advising the formation of local committees in as many centres as possible, and suggesting the necessity of raising funds by private subscription.

3. At the instance of Her Excellency Viscountess Gough, an influential and representative meeting presided over by the Hon'ble the Chief Minister was held at the Victoria Buildings, Egmore, on 18th September 1924, to consider and concert measures for the observance of the Week. The success of the 1924 Health and Baby Week was probably to a considerable degree due to its celebration during the Pongal holidays, when, according to time-honoured custom, a general cleansing and lime-washing is carried out in all Hindu houses. I was therefore decided that the most suitable time for observing the 1925 Week would be between the 17th and 19th January which included the Pongal holidays. Local bodies were accordingly requested by the Director of Public Health to arrange their celebration on these dates. A model programme for each day of the Week was drawn up in the light of experience gained last year, and this was commended to all local bodies for adoption with, of course, such modifications as local conditions might demand. An ladies were to play an important part, the committee were especially advised to enlist the co-operation of as many ladies as possible. All local bodies were informed that the material required for carrying on health propaganda during the Week such as lectures, magic lantern demonstrations, exhibitions, baby shows, etc., was available with the Madras Health Council and the Indian Red Cross Society; stress was also laid on the importance of securing the co-operation of the Educational, Revenue, and Medical Departments and of all Associations interested in social welfare. Heads of Departments were circulated by Government asking them to instruct their officers to co-operate with the Public Health staff.

4. Government once more sanctioned a grant of Rs. 3,000 to the Madras Health Council for expenditure during the National Health and Baby Week celebrations this year. Of this amount, a sum of Rs. 500 was given to the National Baby Week Committee, Madras, for the celebrations in Madras City and the balance of Rs. 2,500 was utilized by the Madras Health Council in preparing propaganda materials such as lantern slides, specimen lectures, pictorial posters, and leaflets, etc., for distribution throughout the Presidency.

In addition to the challenge cup presented last year by a well-known Zemindar in Orissa for award to the district that organized the best Baby Show in the Presidency, a shield was given by Sir Aramulchi Chettiar. Arrangd to be awarded to the municipality that organized the best Baby Show. These generous donations stimulated keen competition, as the detailed reports since received show. So far, reports have been received from 24 local boards and 68 municipalities.

5. It is gratifying to be able to state that the Health and Baby Week this year was celebrated in all parts of the Presidency with the greatest enthusiasm, and with even greater success than last year. Public sympathy with the movement was evidenced by the generous donations (both in money and kind) contributed by rich and poor; the number of centres at which the Week was celebrated and the numbers of people that participated in the functions were far greater, and, although the model scheme was adopted in toto by many local bodies, the activities and programmes carried through were more varied. Hoards and notices announced the advent of the Week everywhere in advance; public interest in the celebrations was created and sustained by meetings held at frequent intervals; and the strenuous endeavours made to get the general population to participate were amply rewarded, in many centres the immense crowds being almost unmanageable.

6. Every District and Municipality unanimously reports that the Health and Baby Week has stimulated public interest in health matters to a marked degree and has made the general populace realize the value of the observance of sanitary laws and the need for "self-help" in health.

7. On the first day of the week which happily fell on the Pongal day, houses were cleaned and limewashed, streets were watered and decorated with arches, flags and festoons. Slums were cleaned and rubbish and manure heaps were removed from the vicinity of houses. Towns and villages everywhere generally presented a festive and clean appearance.

8. The Week was inaugurated in many places by means of huge processions, several being arranged with true oriental grandeur. At the head of the procession were decorated elephants, chariots or motor-cars. The leading citizens and officials of the locality led the processions. Flags and banners bearing health maxims flew aloft, and children sang health songs to the accompaniment of music. The processions passed through the main streets of the locality to the place of meeting, where the objects and programmes of the Week were explained to the people and where they were exhorted to take part in the activities. Health exhibitions, wherever they were arranged, were then formally declared open. Such exhibitions were held in no less than 113 centres and were generally arranged in separate sections, where model dwelling-houses, cattle-sheds, dairy farms, sanitary wells, lying-in rooms, etc., were suitably arranged. The more ambitious exhibitions showed model maternity wards and child-welfare centres and all had displays of posters, coloured pictures and diagrams illustrative of the principles and practice of modern hygiene. The exhibitions attracted large crowds of people from far and near throughout the week, and elicited an immense amount of intelligent interest.

9. One of the most important activities at each centre was the "Baby Show" which was organised in more than 823 different localities, and it is reported that nearly 100,000 babies took part in the competitions. Every one of these was provided with milk during the show. The babies were arranged in different age-groups before judging commenced and the numerous prizes included caps, medals and jackets for the babies and awards for the mothers. Necessitous women were also fed. The occasion was taken advantage of to demonstrate to mothers suitable methods for feeding and bathing their babies, and to advise them on all matters concerning the welfare of their infants and themselves. In some places, lectures illustrated by lantern slides were given to the women on the common ailments of pregnancy and on the dangers resulting from the employment of untrained midwives. There can be no doubt that in the present state of illiteracy among the women of this Presidency, these baby shows are productive of immense good, and it is a good sign of progress that thousands of mothers attended with their babies in spite of the widely prevalent belief in the evil eye.

10. One day was set apart for children. The children were assembled by their teachers and were marched in orderly procession through the main streets singing songs and carrying posters displaying health motion. Before being dispersed they were treated to sweetmeats.

To impress the need for physical development so essential for national advancement and well-being, in 927 centres, sports, coast displays and wrestling matches were arranged and suitable awards were presented to the winners. Health dramas including dialogues were enacted in 561 schools and it is reported that these were very popular.

In order to stimulate interest amongst students of the higher classes, prizes for direction and essay writing on health subjects, such as general sanitation, water-supply, temperance, etc., were awarded in a large number of centres.

11. On one day of the Week, in all parts of the Presidency, prayers in temples, mosques and churches were specially arranged, and the people were taught by means of the lectures delivered on the same occasion how religion and hygiene were closely related to each other.

12. The importance of co-operation during the week was not lost sight of by local committees. Special staffs for the purpose were employed in a number of centres. Prizes were also awarded for the best kept and cleanest houses among the poorer sections of the community.

13. Taking the Presidency as a whole, magic lantern shows were given in 556 centres and 11,510 lectures on health topics in 3,971 different towns and villages, as compared with 637 centres in 1924. The effects of such activities on the people at large cannot be over-estimated. It is evident that most local bodies have now begun to realise the importance of health propaganda.

14. On the whole, the celebrations this year have proved a splendid success, and it may be asserted with confidence that the Health Week has appealed to the general populace in a way which has never been equalled by any other movement.

15. I cannot close this report without tendering my grateful thanks to all who contributed so generously to the success of the celebrations. To the Revenue, Medical, Educational and other departments, who have given their unstinted help, to the Madras Health Council for the immense services it has rendered in preparing and distributing propaganda material and to the Indian Red Society and the Health Propaganda Board, my thanks are especially due. Warm support which the movement received from Presidents and Members of District Boards and Taluk Boards and from the Chairmen and Members of Municipal Councils requires special mention. Last but not least, I do the attention of Government to the splendid zeal and untiring efforts of the public health staffs in every district and municipality display.

success to the Week's celebrations. It is not too much to say that the success attained was in no small measure due to their efforts.

16. Making a rough estimate, the money collected for, and spent during the Health Week celebrations amounted to nearly Rs. 72,000 for the districts, and Rs. 12,000 for municipalities. This estimate does not include gifts in kind, which were many and varied.

Order—No. 2886-P.H., dated 11th September 1925.

Recorded.

3. The second celebration of the National Health and Baby Week was held between the 12th and 18th January 1926. The days included the Pongal festival. The efforts of the Public Health Department, the local bodies and the various voluntary organisations, such as the Madras Health Council and the Indian Red Cross Society in the Presidency were crowned with unequalled success. The celebration appears to have roused the imagination of the people and to have brought home to them the importance of "self-help" in health matters.

4. Reports have been received from 24 local boards and 71 municipalities compared with 24 local boards and 38 municipalities in the previous year. Baby Shows were organized in 873 centres and no less than 100,000 babies were exhibited in spite of the widespread superstitions belted in the evil eye, the number exhibited in the previous year being only 10,000 at 150 centres. 11,230 lanterns were delivered in 3,971 towns and villages. Lectures illustrated by magic lantern slides were delivered in 556 centres. Sports, scout displays and wrestling matches were arranged in 927 centres. Health exhibitions were arranged in 152 centres and health dramas (including dialogues) enacted in 551 schools.

5. A sum of Rs. 86,000—Rs. 73,000 in districts and Rs. 13,000 in municipalities—was raised by public subscription compared with Rs. 25,000 collected in the previous year for the celebration of the Week. This amount excludes prizes and other donations in kind. To ensure a steady continuance of vigorous and intensive health propaganda during the Week the Government have decided to sanction a recurring contribution of Rs. 2,000 a year to the Madras Health Council for the preparation of propaganda materials.

6. The Government note with pleasure that the generous presentation in 1924 by a Zamindar of Chingleput district of a challenge cup to the district that arranged the best baby show was followed this year by the presentation of another prize by another generous donor, Sir M. Arumalai Chettiar, who gave a shield for the best baby show organized by a municipality.

7. The Government congratulate the Director of Public Health and his staff on their efforts and on the successful celebration of the second National Health and Baby Week which resulted therefrom and trust that the interest and enthusiasm evinced in the movement during these two years will be steadily maintained in future.

The thanks of Government are also due to the departments of Government, the voluntary organisations and the presidents and members of local bodies mentioned in paragraph 15 of the Director of Public Health's report whose co-operation contributed so largely to the success of the celebrations.

Acting Secretary to Government.

GOVERNMENT UNIVERSITY LECTURES, 1925.

A course of five College University Lectures with five double periods of practical work on Thursdays will be delivered by Dr. M. A. Srinivasbharanam, M.A., M.Sc., in the Biology Laboratory of the Presidency College, Madras, on the consecutive days commencing from Monday, the 15th December next. The lectures will be delivered from 10 to 11 a.m. each day and the double practical periods will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on each day of the lecture.

These lectures will be open to students taking the Honours courses in Biology in any Government or Affiliated College, on the recommendation of the Principal of the College. The fee will be charged for attending the lectures.

The Principals of Colleges recognized and affiliated to the Biology Honours courses are requested to forward in duplicate lists of students taking the Honours courses recommended for admission to the lectures.

The Standard Barometer and Thermometer are read at 8 a.m., 10 a.m., 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. and the daily means are obtained by the application of hourly corrections, obtained from hourly pressure observations. The column of the barometer is inspected twice daily, above the level of the sea, and the distance of the Rain Gauge is two feet from the ground. The wind, rain and general weather observed are for the current day—from midnight to midnight.

The total quantity of rain collected since January 1st is 30.00 inches, the average for the same period being 31.00 inches.
